Erdem is an amazing professional, with very good experience in DevOps Tools. I had the pleasure to work with him at Smartspace plc. He has huge amount of experience in Service Fabric, Octopus deploy, Powershell, Yaml Scripts and CI/CD Tools. He is very creative in solving problems and was a real asset for the project. I really value his team spirit and would like to work with him again. He has dedicated his valuable time over weekends and holidays to cover huge amount of work which helped our project to finish ontime. we have worked together on Azure and AWS cloud platforms. I am sure he will be an asset to any organisation that he works for. I wish him all the best.

I had the pleasure of having Erdem work with me for the past 5 months on our Workplace platform. We were in need for a DevOps / CI developer who would be able to develop our cloud and on-premise pipeline, starting almost from scratch and developing a means to deploy modules, services and service managers across Service Fabric clusters, not only into Azure environments but also packaging these up for on-premise deployments.

Erdem came in as a contractor for 3 months and shared many ideas to help us improve our current DevOps practices. He spent a considerable amount of time every day passing on some of his extensive knowledge to us, providing us with tools to help with our day to day operations. During his contract, he was also very flexible and understanding of company policies and restrictions.

It has been a pleasure working with Erdem, a very rare and standout talented man, who is also keen to help others.

I had the pleasure to work with Erdem at Craneware, despite we were working on different teams, Erdem is always keen to provide solutions to our problem within the QA /Test Automation team.

Everyone at Craneware, including myself will surely missed your energy and your work ethic.

You will be an asset to and organisation.

I had the pleasure of working with Erdem for around 6 months when he joined us as our Dev Ops Engineer, he is a very talented highly intelligent individual. He is very passionate about finding efficient ways of teamworking and following Agile methodologies to challenge the status quo.

He brings with him vast knowledge and experience, in our project in particular he brought us on leaps and bounds in our understanding of many areas, including: continuous integration and deployment, automation, monitoring, docker and containers. Ultimately what was delivered was a secure online space (Azure) for users to log on (Microsoft B2C) and transact with our organisation with two way integration with CRM (Microsoft Dynamics), there was also the added complication of a document upload and virus checking process (meta defender). Erdem's contribution ensured the solution was robust, secure (external penetration test passed) and delivered on time. Without Erdem being able to focus on a minimal viable product this would not have been possible. He built what was required but kept a backlog of work that would be required to allow the solution to scale and to meet best practice in some areas after release.

I doubt you'll have worked with someone like Erdem before, he brings a lot to the table including his very unique personality.

Erdem is one of the great DevOps professionals I've the opportunity to worked with. His skills are not limited to DevOps, he has experience of full development life cycle process for enterprise applications. Erdem is the kind of person that you can instantly recognise him as he focuses to implement the best practices. We worked in the same project at Scottish Enterprise. Our micro services project had a very complicated infrastructure needs as it had to conform to the very secure requirements which Erdem handled it with ease. He has a great attitude and problem solving skills.

I approached Erdem for tutoring on video games development. Erdem not only gave me the foundations of programming and using Unity3D for development but also a much wider, business-focused view on personal development. He is a great coach and mentor. He has a great deal of patience and, above all, empathy about the difficulties of learning complicated, new skills.

I have since started working in software testing and still practise games development in my own time. Thanks for all your support, Erdem!
